10.30 -16.00

You are invited to a free event in London on November 26th 2015 bringing together people from NGOs and academic institutions interested in women's literacy. As well as enhancing networking between people from NGO and academic contexts, we will be exploring

How can we increase the extent to which NGO activities, developments and documentation inform the academic research community?

This event is the last in a series arising from observations about the limited collaboration between NGOs and academics working on women's literacy. Through participatory methods, it will provide opportunities for NGOs involved in women's literacy to share...

research (both formal and informal) the kinds of project documentation we produce and the value this could have to researchers in the field affordable and time-efficient ways of accessing a range of research

The programme is being developed currently and we welcome expressions of interest, particularly from NGOs and research students, in participating in this event. Please contact BAICE Support Officer (supportofficer@baice.ac.uk) for further details and to register your interest.
